What are Summer Meals?

There are more than 1,000 places in Philadelphia that serve free, nutritious breakfast, lunch, snack, and/or supper to kids and teens when school is out. Summer Meals are provided at no cost to sites through United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) programs.

Sites include playgrounds, parks, faith-based organizations, community centers, recreation centers, day camps, Playstreets, public housing complexes, child care centers, senior centers, and other community organizations.

How do I find a Summer Meals site in my neighborhood?

During program months (June-August):

- Call the toll-free Philly Summer Meals Hotline: 1-855-252-MEAL (6325)
- Text “FOOD” to 877877
- Visit www.phillysummermeals.org

Who can get Summer Meals?

Kids and teens ages 18 and under, as well as disabled persons over 18 who participate in school programs for people who are mentally or physically disabled. There are no income, ID, or registration requirements for children at open sites in qualifying areas.

Why are Summer Meals important?

During the school year, thousands of low-income students eat free or reduced-price meals at schools. But when school is out and kids aren't receiving that food, children face higher risks for hunger and malnutrition. Summer Meals help to fill that gap, so kids have the nutritious food they need to stay healthy all summer.

Spread the Word!

No kid should go hungry in Philadelphia this summer, with more than 1,000 free summer meals sites.
